

LIGHT TO LIFE

The Mother of Pakistan "Bilquis Bano", wife of Abdul Sattar Edhi, social worker and philanthropist in Pakistan. she is a great inspiration for me. What inspired me the most about her, she proved that you don't have to be rich to help other, determination, courageousness and hardworking can lead uto achieve any goal of life. She was rich by heart despite the limited resources she was stick to achieve her goal of helping poor women and children to bring them toward light. She had a great influence on women, who are dedicated and motivated toward achieving something but not belong to wealthy family.

Together with her husband she has been working with Edhi foundation and they saved 16k unwanted babies. Her charity runs hospital and emergency services in Karachi. After her husband death she held the complete responsibility. She regularly visits to monitor the working of all Edhi homes across the Pakistan and suggest according to her view what requires.

Despite the hardship and difficulties in her life, she keeps the team firm.

She put her heart and soul into charity work specially helping women and children, in her sixty years of selfless service to the poorest of the poor. she managed to save and raise about 42000 unwanted babies through her favorite "Jhoola" project. she places empty cradles in front of Edhi centers so that people can leave their unwanted children there instead of throwing them on garbage heap or killing them, as commonly done. she personally supervises the adoption process, paying close attention to baby's replacement.

Her selfless devotion and untiring work for the needy especially the orphans and abandoned children made her a beacon of light and a symbol of hope and emphasizes encourages the children to obtain training and career so that they can be independent.

A leader own combination of qualities such as, ability to inspire other, ethics, strong communication skills and technical expertise. Leaders are not born, are made. leader can contribute to a positive work environment by appreciating team members work, ensuring their morale and contribution of his team members. A leader plays imp role in strengthening and weakling his team. A leader should always assist his followers in staying on the path of growth. He should have the ability of positive modelling behavior to do what he says which generates trust among the people around him and they will instantly follow him.

Leadership is the ability to influence, inspire and engage the team whatsoever are the circumstances builds team to face challenges. It's a skill that can be developed through experience, learning and adoption. They don't avoid the challenges instead take responsibility for their decision and focuses to resolve problem. Leadership requires honesty, trustworthiness and respective for people reliability.

Active listening quality create strong bond among team as that helps people to trust and communicate easily and by appreciating team work helps them to strive for better performance.

Every leader has an urge to lead but not everyone own leadership qualities.

A Leader is one who knows the way, goes the way, and shows the way.

In my point of view tittle to be a leader is not required, as everyone is a leader in his\her own pace of life. Every day we have opportunity to lead, a chosen leader is one who hold formal position based on skills and experience but to be a leader we must lead over self i-e weaknesses, value, strength.

In over daily life we see our mother, teachers, elder sister, Grannie for me they all are my leader.

Everyone is a leader because everyone Influences someone
